The Problem

A US family asked for our help in relocating to the UK with their two special needs children.

The Clearview Solution.

As our comprehensive relocation service includes education consultants, we were able correctly assess the needs of the children and recommend an independent school offering a suitable bespoke programme. The parents were delighted and both children were enrolled. From a corporate standpoint we provided full costs for the programme in advance so the expenditure could be approved and signed off.

We also made sure the relocation process itself was as smooth as possible and tailored to meet the families individual need. This included taking the time to find a “delightful” house that was both near the special school and eased the assignees commute.

The Outcome

Though they had previously been home schooled by their mother, the children quickly settled in to their new environment and flourished; so much so that they will soon be able to continue their education in the state system. We’re particularly delighted by the result as it shows the benefit of our personal touch.
